2. DATA COLLECTION ANALYSIS

2.6 Data Analysis Questions

Analyze the LEA's data and answer the guiding questions to determine existing trends and patterns that support the identification of demographic and financial needs. Student subgroups with a count of less than 15 are denoted by "TFS" (too few students).

What perception data did you use? [examples: student perceptions about school climate issues (health survey, violence, prejudice, bullying, etc.); student/parent perceptions about the effectiveness of programs or interventions; student understanding of relationship of school to career or has an academic plan]	We used parent surveys, the school Climate survey, and parent comment cards as our perception data.
What does the perception data tell you? (perception data can describe people's knowledge, attitudes, beliefs, perceptions, competencies; perception data can also answer the question "What do people think they know, believe, or can do?")	Parents feel like they are a part of the school decision making. There are many early support opportunities.
What process data did you use? (examples: student participation in school activities, sports, clubs, arts; student participation in special programs such as peer mediation, counseling, skills conferences; parent/student participation in events such as college information meetings and parent workshops)	Grading policies, PBIS data, attendance data, suspension data, parent engagement data, master schedule
What does the process data tell you? (process data describes the way programs are conducted; provides evidence of participant involvement in programs; answers the question "What did you do for whom?")	Instructional time is maximized by using the master schedule which is created by a team of stakeholders. The grading policies are created by each grade level team and follows the district's guidelines to ensure best practices. Student attendance is an area of concern with many students missing more than six days a school year. Parent engagement has increased based on our sign in sheets for various events.

What achievement data did you use?	Unit assessments, Benchmark data, GMAS scores, CCRPI, and student grades.

What does your achievement data tell you?	Students are continuing to make progress in all academic areas. The achievement data also tells us that there is room for student and teacher growth. Many resources and significant efforts are put into helping our students at risk of not meeting state standards. This has proved to be effective and we have seen the percentage of students scoring in the Level 1 performance band decrease. Further analysis has revealed that the same efforts are not always provided for our higher achievers which is why we do not see as much growth/positive movement between our Level 3 and Level 4 performance bands.

What demographic data did you use?	Gadoe reports, free and reduced lunch report, Infinite Campus reports
------------------------------------	---

What does the demographic data tell you?	Cleveland has a high transiency rate with students and teachers. This causes the student and teacher population to significantly each year. There is a disparity of income levels with families who have students enrolled at our school. The ESOL population continues to increase and additional training, resources, and translators allows us to better serves these students and their families.

3. NEEDS IDENTIFICATION AND ROOT CAUSE ANALYSIS

3.1 Strengths and Challenges Based on Trends and Patterns

Read the trends and patterns summaries from each section of the data analysis process. Use the information in these summaries to complete 3.2 and 3.3. Using the summaries in 3.1 and other local data, describe the strengths and challenges or answer the guiding questions for each program. Include strengths and challenges related to: a) general program implementation, and b) students and adults involved in or affected by the program. Focus on strengths and challenges that will assist in the identification of needs during 3.2. Watch the Identifying Need webinar for additional information and guidance.

Strengths and Challenges Based on Trends and Patterns

Coherent Instructional: Summarize the coherent instructional system trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	In summary, Cleveland Elementary provides a strong RTI/MTSS process and a wide network of student supports in an effort to identify and address student needs. Important trends and patterns that support the identification of teacher needs include a continued system of relevant and timely professional learning. An increase in parental involvement and community engagement were areas identified that would ultimately support and address student, teacher, and leader needs.
Effective Leadership: Summarize the effective leadership trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	The important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs include: ongoing analysis of student benchmark and assessment data by students, teachers, ILT members, and stakeholders; continuous opportunity for feedback by stakeholders via surveys, and ongoing opportunities for teacher-led and county-led professional learning.
Professional Capacity: Summarize the professional capacity trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	All teachers are provided numerous opportunities for professional development. We noticed teachers felt professional learning needed to be more tailored for the individual teacher and his/her content area. Administrators consistently communicate with staff members through ILT meetings, school improvement meetings, and break out sessions at monthly faculty meetings. The staff has extended planning twice a month as well as vertical planning twice year. The staff participated in online digital citizenship training as well as in house technology training. We will use peer walk-through data as well as TKES data to see if the PL is being implemented to support academic instruction.

Strengths and Challenges Based on Trends and Patterns

Family and Community Engagement: Summarize the family and community engagement trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	The most discussed trend in our family and community engagement discussions was the need for more Spanish communication with classroom teachers. Each year we are seeing an increase in the number of Spanish speaking families in our community. Parents help to spread the word about the Talking Points App and possible ESOL classes for parents including Rosetta Stone scholarships provided by school or community leaders. This will ensure that they are able to help their children make academic gains by supporting them with their homework. Since implementing the Talking Points App we are seeing an increase in parental awareness. Based on a Talking Points Survey at a Padres meeting our Spanish speaking families feel it is an effective tool for communication that helps with classroom assignments. Our parents as a whole requested more technology assistance. Internet access in the home is an issue for many of our families and more scholarships for Comcast Essentials will help support the student needs at home with technology. Another trend we noted was the need for parental support with the new math strategies being implemented. The overall decline in parent involvement is another trend. The programs are only effective for those willing to participate.
Supportive Learning Environment: Summarize the supportive learning environment trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	In summary, Cleveland provides academic and behavior interventions that promote a supportive learning environment on an overall operational level. The use of PBIS as a school-wide framework assists with the school climate and culture. However, parent and student surveys show that some student behaviors do impact the teachers' ability to teach and the students' ability to learn. Discipline data shows a need for professional development addressing the needs of economically disadvantaged and minority students. The data also suggests the school-wide need to teach social emotional and self-regulation skills to our students.
Demographic and Financial: Summarize the demographic and financial trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	Our ESOL student population continues to increase (+44% since 2015-2016 school year); additional resources including teachers, training and translators will allow us to better serve the needs of these students and enhance parent communication. Approximately 43% of our student population is eligible for the free and reduced lunch program. Additional resources can supplement educational opportunities and activities they would otherwise not be able to afford.

Strengths and Challenges Based on Trends and Patterns

Student Achievement: Summarize the student achievement trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	The number of beginning learners (Level 1) have decreased in all content areas. We are continuing to work on moving students from the developing learners band (Level 2) to the proficient learners band (Level 3). Our CCRPI report indicated that in ELA: 30.53% of our Economically Disadvantaged scored in the Level 1 performance band, 60.61% of our Student's with Disabilities scored Level 1 performance band , and 50% of our English Learners scored in the level 1 performance band. Our CCRPI report indicated that in Math: 24.21% of our Economically Disadvantaged scored in the Level 1 performance band, 54.55% of our Student's with Disabilities scored Level 1 performance band , and 43.75% of our English Learners scored in the level 1 performance band. There is a concern for students basic needs being met and a lack of accessibility to technology at home. The district CNA report supports our school's identification of student, teacher, and leader needs with: one-to-one technology, strategies to increase our CCRPI scores, and ways to provide a safe and healthy environment.

IDEA – Special Education, Economically Disadvantaged Children, and English Learners.

Using the summaries in 3.1 and other local data, describe the strengths and challenges or answer the guiding questions for each program. Include strengths and challenges related to: a) general program implementation, and b) students and adults involved in or affected by the program. Focus on strengths and challenges that will assist in the identification of needs during 3.3. Watch the Identifying Need webinar for additional information and guidance.

Strengths	As noted in our 2018 CCRPI score, approximately 73% of our English Learners moved one or more performance bands as measured by ACCESS. This is a strong indication that these learners are demonstrating progress towards English language proficiency. Approximately 77% of our Economically Disadvantaged Children showed typical to high growth in the area of English Language Arts as measured by GMAS.
Challenges	As noted in our 2018 CCRPI score, approximately 41% of our students with disabilities showed low growth in the area of English Language Arts as measured by GMAS. Approximately 45% of these learners showed low growth in the area of Mathematics as measured by GMAS. Approximately 64% of our Economically Disadvantaged Children showed typical to high growth in the area of Mathematics as measured by GMAS. Our student growth in the area of Mathematics is approximately 13% less as compared to student growth in the area of English Language Arts.

Title I Instructional Assistants and Title I Teachers work with students in both subject areas under the supervision of the highly qualified classroom teacher. Cleveland offers an after school reading and math program for the most at-risk students on the Title I rank order. This program fires highly qualified teachers to work with students in very small groups on targeted skills. Students benchmark assessments are used to monitor the effectiveness of the program. Every Friday morning middle school students from Bennett's Mill Middle School come to read with specific students on the rank order. Cleveland uses Title I funds to hire a school Title I Contact, a Parent Liaison, and a School Translator. The Parent Liaison works in the school's parent resource room and manages / creates a monthly Title I newsletter for parents. She also coordinates a take-home backpack program for students on the rank order at teacher and parent request. Over holiday breaks the Parent Liaison sends home work packets for students to complete with their parents assistance. Title I funds are used to purchase Summer Bridge books for students served in the Title I program.
