2. DATA COLLECTION ANALYSIS

2.6 Data Analysis Questions

Analyze the LEA’s data and answer the guiding questions to determine existing trends and patterns that support the identification of demographic and financial needs. Student subgroups with a count of less than 15 are denoted by “TFS” (too few students).

What perception data did you use? [examples: student perceptions about school climate issues (health survey, violence, prejudice, bullying, etc.); student/parent perceptions about the effectiveness of programs or interventions; student understanding of relationship of school to career or has an academic plan]	Surveys were created and distributed to students, parents, and staff during the 2019-2020 school year. Monthly, during the PBIS PLC and staff meetings, SWIS data is presented and reviewed. In addition, the 2019 CCRPI School Climate data and results of the Elementary Georgia Student Health Surveys were analyzed from the school, county, state levels.
What does the perception data tell you? (perception data can describe people’s knowledge, attitudes, beliefs, perceptions, competencies; perception data can also answer the question “What do people think they know, believe, or can do?”)	The perception data yields many positive results from stakeholders in terms of attitudes towards school, belief in competencies and overall satisfaction with the school community. Huddleston has earned a 5 STAR climate rating. Strengths from student stakeholders include: students like school, believe their teachers care about them, feel safe at school, get along well with others, and students treat each other well. Growth areas of focus include continued teaching of SEL and communication skills and creating a lower level of volume in the cafeteria. Strengths from the parent stakeholders include: children like school, believe that the staff respects and treats students fairly, and parents feel welcome. Growth areas of focus include continuing to involve parents in decision making processes and keeping parents actively engaged in the school community.
What process data did you use? (examples: student participation in school activities, sports, clubs, arts; student participation in special programs such as peer mediation, counseling, skills conferences; parent/student participation in events such as college information meetings and parent workshops)	Process data included review of student participation in support programs and the implementation of best practices that support student learning within each program. For example students in the ESOL program benefit instructionally when the results of the ACCESS test are used to identify their Can Do Descriptor levels. These levels work to inform teachers about the best instructional strategies to use to support each student. The team also utilizes the data from the RtI/MTSS program to identify and monitor students learning and response to intervention. Common assessment tools and resources are used within the grade level and universally to ensure that students progress is monitored. These universal assessment tools include: STAR, RI, Dibels, as well as grade level assessments in ELA and Math. Attendance data is used to monitor overall school attendance and also address concerns and support for attendance rate of a student or staff member. With communication between teacher/parent, school counselor, administrator and system social work we work to promote positive attendance and engagement at school.

What does the process data tell you? (process data describes the way programs are conducted; provides evidence of participant involvement in programs; answers the question “What did you do for whom?”)	Process data demonstrates the need for continued professional learning in utilizing resources, monitoring and measuring student learning, and using that information to provide differentiated instruction.

What achievement data did you use?	Various forms of achievement data were used. In past years, student achievement data at the state level was driven by the Georgia Milestones and also school level common assessments. Due to the sudden closure of schools due to COVID-19, Georgia Milestone testing was suspended. Therefore the data used to measure student achievement included the mid-year benchmark assessments using the STAR and RI for math and reading respectively.
--	--

What does your achievement data tell you?	In reviewing achievement data of state required testing, district level assessments and classroom summative assessments, students at Huddleston increase and improve in their achievement overall. The focus remains on two aspects: maximizing growth for all students and providing differentiation to make that growth and improvement possible. Subgroups of students participating in the ESOL and ESC programs continue to need strategic interventions and supports to maximize learning and achievement. It is important to document that state wide required testing is not the only measure stakeholders should focus on. We use a multiple measures of achievement to ensure we have an understanding of the whole child. With this understanding, students participating in ESOL, ECS, or gifted programs show growth and evidence of learning.
---	--

What demographic data did you use?	Grade reports, CCPRI data, Georgia Insights by GADOE: Demographics, attendance, school climate/discipline, free/reduced.
--	---

What does the demographic data tell you?	Percent average attendance: students 94%, teachers 97%, staff 96%, and administration 97%. Discipline referrals have decreased over the past 3 years and so have the rate of in/out school suspensions. Overall school attendance is approximately 97% among students. Huddleston has received a CCRPI School Climate rating of 5 stars.

3. NEEDS IDENTIFICATION AND ROOT CAUSE ANALYSIS

3.1 Strengths and Challenges Based on Trends and Patterns

Read the trends and patterns summaries from each section of the data analysis process. Use the information in these summaries to complete 3.2 and 3.3. Using the summaries in 3.1 and other local data, describe the strengths and challenges or answer the guiding questions for each program. Include strengths and challenges related to: a) general program implementation, and b) students and adults involved in or affected by the program. Focus on strengths and challenges that will assist in the identification of needs during 3.2. Watch the Identifying Need webinar for additional information and guidance.

Strengths and Challenges Based on Trends and Patterns

Coherent Instructional: Summarize the coherent instructional system trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	As an instructional team, we have multiple resources and systems that support instruction: State standards with aligned county level scope and sequence, a wealth of instructional resources both hard copy and digital, standards based rubrics in grades K-4, and access to professionals such as Instructional Coaches, Content Coordinators, and Instructional Support Teachers. The main challenge yet, truly an opportunity, is learning to balance and apply these resources effectively based on student learning needs. Continued collaboration within grade level teams, vertical teams, and with resource staff is vital to accomplishing this goal. The MTSS processes continue to be refined and focused to identify student learning needs and effectiveness of interventions. In order to improve it's effectiveness formative and summative assessments need to be provided, analyzed, and instructional action taken with the results in a timely manner.

Effective Leadership: Summarize the effective leadership trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	Effective leadership trends are centered around shared leadership throughout the building and varied roles of staff. This area is a strength in terms of our school community. We have professional learning communities with focused work: Leadership, RtI, PBIS, content areas, grade levels, and vertical team collaboration. The goals of these PLC are ever evolving and expanding based upon the needs of our students, teachers, and stakeholders. Continued work must be focused on identifying needs and setting focused goals to address the work of each PLC with timely monitoring and adjustments to the progress. Student achievement data with subgroup analysis, attendance data, discipline data, perception data, and supportive responsiveness to community and current events that impact our school community will help identify the needs of our school community.

Strengths and Challenges Based on Trends and Patterns

Professional Capacity: Summarize the professional capacity trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	Professional capacity remains a strength for the Huddleston community. Staff retention rate is positive with a good balance of early, mid, and later career experienced staff. New staff members participate in county level and school based mentoring and receive intensive support and collaboration with grade level teams, support from instructional coaches, and access to content specialist at the county level. Every year all staff members set professional learning goals and plans and participate in county and school level professional learning opportunities. A pattern of challenge emerges when there are multiple professional learning opportunities from the county level and the school level, requiring diligence in allocating time to participate and transfer new learning into practice. Creating a professional learning timeline with cohesive content and tailoring individual professional learning to meet stakeholders' needs is necessary. Technology integration and digital teaching and learning will be a need with the addition of the new LMS, Schoology, for Fayette County.
---	--

Family and Community Engagement: Summarize the family and community engagement trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	With a CCRPI 5 star climate rating and positive parental feedback from stakeholder surveys, our school community is described as being opening, welcoming, and connected. An active PTO supports many opportunities for family engagement and community building, and the school invites parents to a variety of events to celebrate student learning, share in performances, and school traditions. With this in mind, the trends noted by the team include a need to expand more consistent engagement opportunities for stakeholders including non-English speaking families, parents with more limited access to school during the regular school day, and also to expand business and community partnerships to serve as mentors and support real life connections to learning. In addition, our staff also noted the need for increased communications to engage and support parents in ways they can help with academic learning from the home setting. Communication methods must continue to be an area of focus since our parents respond to and participate in varied modes of communication. Increasing social media presence, utilizing the new LMS, and setting common expectations for school to home communication is necessary. Another need to is offer more two-way communication opportunities from home to school rather than the school simply providing information.
---	--

Supportive Learning Environment: Summarize the supportive learning environment trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	Fayette County provides a strong umbrella of support services with school level access and outreach. Within our school we have a full time school counselor, nurse, RtI team, behavioral support staff, a character education program, and a productive PBIS team that all work to create a supportive learning environment for students and staff. Considering RtI data and discipline data, we need to continue to focus on restorative practices to support students that experience self-regulation, emotional, and behavioral challenges. The PBIS team will work to implement

Strengths and Challenges Based on Trends and Patterns

	explicit teaching of expectations, positive routines, and implement a consistent student discipline program, with identification of classroom and office managed behaviors, for all students while promoting positive recognition of individual, class, and school level successes.
Demographic and Financial: Summarize the demographic and financial trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	Huddleston's demographic data in terms of overall enrollment, program participation, economically disadvantaged, and ethnic diversity remains fairly consistent each year. We have a low transiency rate of approximately of 10% as recorded by GOSA. One enrollment trend is an increase in Hispanic student enrollment. Upon analysis of student achievement data, focus of work will continue in the subgroup areas of Hispanic and Students with Disabilities.
Student Achievement: Summarize the student achievement trends and patterns observed by the team while completing this section of the report. What are the important trends and patterns that will support the identification of student, teacher, and leader needs?	One of the trends, as observed by our primary grades teachers, is a more varied level of school readiness among our entering pre-k and kindergarten students than in past years regarding pre-academic skills, social/emotional and self-regulation skills. The Huddleston school community is fortunate to have a low transiency rate that affords our learning community the opportunity to teach and work with the majority of our students for many of their elementary education years. With this we have noted an increase in our students' progress in all academic areas per the most recently available 2019 CCRPI report. Substantial gains were also recorded by subgroups. Since student enrollment is stable one area of growth needs to be in the area of differentiation to meet more individualized student learning needs across the content areas, achievement levels, and subgroups. The last recorded formative achievement assessments were administered in December of 2019. With the COVID 19 pandemic, the final administration of the STAR and RI were not possible. RI Results for School Totals Grades 2-5 December 2019          Percentage of Students: Advanced 30%, Proficient 35%, Basic 20%, Below Basic 15% Sub Group Percentage of Students:          White: Advanced 40%, Proficient 38%, Basic 12% , Below Basic 10%          Black: Advanced 22%, Proficient 63%, Basic 11%, Below Basic 4%          Hispanic: Advanced 19%, Proficient 30%, Basic 27%, Below Basic 23%          Limited English Proficiency: Advanced 4%, Proficient 24%, Basic 24%, Below Basic 48%          Students with Disabilities: Advanced 4%, Proficient 25%, Basic 31%, Below Basic 40% STAR Math Results for Grades 1-4 December 2019          Percentage of Students:          Above 63%, On 32%, Below 5%

Using the summaries in 3.1 and other local data, describe the strengths and challenges or answer the guiding questions for each program. Include strengths and challenges related to: a) general program implementation, and b) students and adults involved in or affected by the program. Focus on strengths and challenges that will assist in the identification of needs during 3.3. Watch the Identifying Need webinar for additional information and guidance.

Strengths	Exceptional Children's Services: Collaborative and co-teaching models with a general education and special education teacher create great results when both professionals are open to co-teaching and have the opportunity to work together for many years to build trust and relationships. All students, regardless of if they receive special education services or not, can benefit from collaborative and co-teaching models. ECS staff are continuously involved in professional learning, both district provided as well as sought out individually, to create better outcomes for students. Across our staff, they possess training in Orton-Gillingham, Dyslexia endorsements, and LETRS along with Reading Specialist Degrees. We also employ the support role of an ECS paraprofessional to further support students' individual learning needs and goals. ECS staff have the opportunity to build great relationships with students and families because as a team, they work with students and families for many years. ESOL: Generally, we are able to place students in co-teaching environments where Tier 1 instruction is maximized and instruction can be effectively co-designed to meet students at their language levels and while incorporating best practices. Co-planning time has been intentionally designed. The ESOL staff is fully committed in meeting individual students' needs and provides engaging, authentic learning lessons that align with the curriculum and maximize student access to learning. Relationships is our strength. Our relationships with one another, and the trust and support we have developed with our families is very strong.
------------------	---

Challenges	Exceptional Children's Services: Devising schedules to maximize instructional time and services. When creating schedules the focus is also on trying to make our students' day as cohesive as possible with fewer transitions. This requires attention to details and flexibility. At times the wide range of spectrum of needs, even within a grade level. Time limitations for collaboration with general education teachers can be a challenge. ESOL: Staffing limitations combined with higher numbers of enrollment at certain grade levels can make co teaching more difficult to schedule. Continuous work to streamline and translate communication in a variety of languages and in a timely, cohesive manner requires ongoing work and access to digital tools.

3. REQUIRED QUESTIONS

3.1 Stakeholders, Serving Children, PQ

Required Questions

1 In developing this plan, briefly describe how the school sought advice from individuals (teachers, staff, other school leaders, paraprofessionals, specialized instructional support personnel, parents, community partners, and other stakeholders) was accomplished.	The Huddleston staff, School Council, and PTO were engaged in learning about the SIP process and sharing information and input. Vertical teams in the school collaborated on the data collection and analysis to help determine further needs and root causes. The Huddleston Leadership PLC reviewed the SIP and shared with grade level/area PLC's.
2 Describe how the school will ensure that low-income and minority children enrolled in the Title I school are not served at disproportionate rates by ineffective, out-of-field, or inexperienced teachers.	Although Huddleston is not a Title I school, we adhere to the FCBOE Human Resources department of hiring highly qualified, certified staff for all positions.
3 Provide a general description of the Title I instructional program being implemented at this Title I School. Specifically define the subject areas to be addressed and the instructional strategies/methodologies to be employed to address the identified needs of the most academically at-risk students in the school. Please include services to be provided for students living in local institutions for neglected or delinquent children (if applicable).	Huddleston uses the school based SIP to plan for instruction and utilizes instructional resources and strategies with a strong support staff to meet students' learning needs.
4 If applicable, provide a description of how teachers, in consultation with parents, administrators, and pupil services personnel, will identify eligible children most in need of services in Title I targeted assistance schools/programs. Please include a description of how the school will develop and implement multiple (a minimum of 2) objective, academic-based performance criteria to rank students for service. Also include a description of the measurable scale (point system) that uses the objective criteria to rank all students.	Huddleston is not a designated Title I school. We utilize the RtI and MTSS framework for identifying students in need of services and support.

3.2 PQ, Federally Identified Schools, CTAE, Discipline

Required Questions

5 If applicable, describe how the school will support, coordinate, and integrate services with early childhood programs at the school level, including strategies for assisting preschool children in the transition from early childhood education programs to local elementary school programs.	Huddleston is fortunate to have the Bright from the Start Pre-K program. The teacher in this program supports early education and introduction to the school learning community. The teacher collaborates with necessary support service personnel. Students also attend a pre-view to Kindergarten in the spring of each year.
6 If applicable, describe how the school will implement strategies to facilitate effective transitions for students from middle grades to high school and from high school to postsecondary education including: Coordination with institutions of higher education, employers, and local partners; and Increased student access to early college, high school, or dual or concurrent enrollment opportunities or career counseling to identify student interest and skills.	The majority of Huddleston students transition to Booth Middle School, then to McIntosh High School feeder pattern. The Huddleston 5th grade staff, school counselor, and assistant principal collaborate with staff at Booth to ensure that students have a successful transition to the middle school setting. Fifth grade students attend Booth Fine Arts Day in the spring to meet key staff members and learn about the opportunities and learning ahead. Students also are encouraged to attend the orientation before school starts at the middle school.
7 Describe how the school will support efforts to reduce the overuse of discipline practices that remove students from the classroom, specifically addressing the effects on all subgroups of students.	Huddleston provides a warm, nurturing environment for our students that is based on the PBIS Framework. Within this framework, students receive Tier 1 support for learning expectations to help them be successful at school. We also implement many strategies of support through Discipline with Love &amp; Logic, Conscious Discipline, and promote social emotional learning with monthly school guidance lessons, frequent class meetings, and the Voyage Character Education Program. We also employ the support role of our Behavior Paraprofessional that works with students in the RtI process to learn positive tools for connecting with others and making safe, responsible choices. It is our belief that when this foundation is set, students experience fewer instances of behaviors that would require discipline practices.
